

In 2006 55% of all households in the UK had access to the internet. By 2016 that had increased to 89%.

More than one million of those households have online access to public services thanks to Agilisys.

In 2006, 35% of adults in Great Britain regularly accessed the internet. By 2016 this had risen to 82%.

Over three million citizens regularly access public services using digital technology solutions provided by Agilisys.

In 2011, an estimated 36% of adults accessed the internet using a mobile or smartphone. By 2016 this had increased to 70%.

Today, UK citizens spend on average two hours a day online on a smartphone. **

Source
* ONS  Ofcom

