We're immensely proud of this achievement and of our dedicated team that made this happen. In recognition of the award, we have compiled a list of five top tips for delivering an award winning Workplace Service Centre.

Creating the right balance of skills, enthusiasm and passion has provided us with the analytical skills to measure performance and the interpersonal skills to engage effectively with our customers.

Create a thriving and rewarding work environment

Creating an environment that demands professionalism but enables people to enjoy what they do creates a productive, detail orientated and enjoyable culture that directly transfers to the way we engage with customers.

Understand your customers

Building rapport with each and every customer who calls the Service Centre is crucial to efficient problem resolution. The better the relationship we have with our customers, the faster and more effectively we can diagnose, troubleshoot and resolve issues.

Disrupt the norm

Constantly pushing boundaries and challenging the traditional view of service desks and their perceived value has driven the team to continuously iterate and improve process and technology to ensure our service is always fit for purpose.

Become the leaders

We set an objective to exceed and improve every known industry performance measure to raise the bar and set new benchmarks. This ultimately provided us with the focus and blueprint to deliver a world beating globally recognised Service Centre.
